ST. NICHOLAS CIRL APPEALS FOR CHILDREN

Touching Faith of Little Ones in Coming of Santa Claus Means Work.

ONE GIRL WITHOUT GIFTS FOUR YEARS

Good Saint's Representative The Times Office Wants to Hear From "Kiddies."

There is no use to try to dodge it any longer. There are only twentytwo more days until Christmas, and in that time all of the hundreds of appeals from children for Christmas gifts, to the St. Nicholas Girl, of The Washington Times, must be answered or preparation must be made for their fullfilment. Each morning a huge pile of mail is delivered to the St. Micholas Girl's desk, and the most touching thing about it all is the blind faith with which the little ones drop their letters to Santa Claus into the United States mail box, perfectly sure that in the course of time the desired gift will result.

Forgotten Four Years.

One little girl writes to the St. Nicholas Girl, saying:
St. Nicholas Girl:
We have not had Santa Claus with us since my fatner died, four years ago. I wish you would be so kind
as to send me a pair of shoes, a doll,
a dress, and, please, if you have any
left, will you send me some candy.
Please don't forget me.
VIOLA M.

VIOLA M. Would Hear From Children.

The St. Nicholas Girl wants to hear from the children, not from their parents. She wants to make this Christmas of 1912 as happy as possible for the children who have no other kind friends or parents to provide them with a happy fraught with many disappointments, because, perhaps, at the last minute there will not be presents enough to go round, and so for that reason she asks that only the poorest children in Washington write her—those who know from past experiences that Santa Claus will give them a cold shoulder at Christmas time. Think of the hundreds of children who will wake up on next Christmas morning and will find their little stockings quite limp and empty. Is there any more dreary tragedy in childhood than this? fraught with many disappointments, be-

Boy Wants To Help.

Dear St. Nicholas Girl: I have no more toys to give you as I gave them to you last year but I would be glad to help you in any way that I can. As I get out of school at one o'clock I might be able to help you in some way. I also know the city pretty well so if there is any possible way that I can help you drop me a postal or call North 7482 and I am at your disposal. Yours truly, ROBERT CHISOLM.

P. S.-I have a lot of jam, pre-serves, and jelly that I could give you if they would help.

you if they would help.

Would you give up some very delectable morsel for others? Jam, preserves, and jelly, probably have the same comparative value to this small hoy that a delicious course dinner has for you, dear reader. Would you go without a one big dinner for the sake of giving some poor little child a happy Christmas as willingly as Master Robert Chisolm does his jam and jelly?

One little fellow writes to Santa Claus asking him to give a pair of roller skates. "These are all I want, Mr. Santa Claus," he says, "because I can carry errands on them, and won't have to walk so far and wear out so

These are no long time at little expense. While appeals for Christmas gifts have been plentiful, the contributions to the Saint Nicholas Girl's fund have been somewhat slow in coming in.

She asks everybody who is at all interested in this beautiful movement to communicate with her as soon as possible, for there is much to be done in the less than a score of days that remain until Christmas day. Dressed dolls, toys of every description, and cash donations are necessary if every poor child in Washington is to be rememberer by the good old saint on that holiday.

He did not take the stand himself. Whether he will testify before the Senate has not been disclosed. The impeachment trial toda, is the first held in the Senate since Judge Swayne, Federal district judge in Florida, was tried and acquitted in 1995. Ouster of Archbaid will require a vote of two-thirds of the Senators, although a majority only of the House was required for his impeachment.

Today's trial had its inception in a complaint filed last February before Interstate Commerce Commissioner Henry B. Meyer, by William P. Boland, president and general manager of the Marian Coal Company, of Seranton, Pa. Holand told Meyer that he feared Archbaid had been or was interested in aiding certain railroads in Boland's litigation with the carriers.
